

Free Chee Week 13 Power Rankings

Tier One: The Favorites

1. Life with Derrick- Justin (LW rank: 1)

He just keeps on trucking. Even against a formidable opponent in Tishman this week, Derrick calmly rolled to 144 points. The only question with Derrick at this point: is he peaking too soon? The real concern here is the health of Trevor Lawrence. Some (communist propagandists most likely) have been pitching him sitting out the remainder of the year to ensure the Jags get the first pick. The committee bets Lawrence will return next week to lead Derrick to fantasy glory. Derrick of course has clinched a playoff berth.

2. Stewed C- Joey (LW rank: 3)

Stewed is probably pacing around Jefferson fuming that he didn't secure the top spot. Nonetheless, we had to move him back up to 2 after he laid waste to Deserves to be Shot. Saquon dropped his nuts on Sean McVay's forehead Sunday night to seal the deal. Stewed hasn't officially clinched a playoff berth but the odds of him missing are so impossibly low that the algorithm is rounding his playoff odds to 100%. Not gonna lie, this team is pretty scary.

Tier Two: In the Mix

3. Gorlock the Destroyer- Papi (LW rank:2)

Did Gorlock just get waxed? Yes. Does the committee factor it in? Marginally. With Burrow and Jim Cook on bye, we're willing to give Gorlock a bit of a pass. As we've preached since these rankings started, Gorlock is sort of a 5-man team and with 2 of those men out he was always going to be cooked. He remains a serious playoff threat. He's in same situation as Stewed as far as his playoff odds.

4. Pigs on the 7th Rank- Deez (LW rank: 5)

Pigs recovers after a tumble last week by handily defeating Gorlock. We're still not sure if this team is that good, but they're 9-3 and have officially clinched a playoff berth. Since the return of Kupp and Puka, Stafford has been an absolute monster with hair. Even still, the algorithm gives him just a 7% chance of winning the title.

5. Cap Stoppers- TJ (LW Rank: 6)

The Stoppers stopped Marvin to send him to the league's basement. He's in the same position as Stewed and Gorlock in that he's locked up a playoff spot in all but name. He perfectly executed the rarely seen but hard to stop strategy of the triple tight end. They did enough to support the Gibbs-Achane duo and pull out the win. Cap Stoppers sits with a 15% chance at winning league, 4th best per the algorithm.

6. Deserves to be Shot- Mitch (LW rank: 4)

One could argue he really does deserve to be shot after the showing this week, but the committee knows better. The absence of arguably his three best players in Josh Allen, Chase Brown and Bijan Robinson left him cooked regardless of opponent this week. It almost makes you wonder if Stewed C wasted an all-time great Saquon performance against the dogshit lineup Deserves to be Shot threw out there this week. There's still a roughly 4% chance he misses the playoffs, but the algorithm gives Deserves the 2nd best chance of anyone to win the league at 17%. Monroe is furious.

7. Hand me the Piss- TK (LW rank: 7)

This is where it gets interesting. Piss is extremely likely to make the playoffs, but there is a semi-realistic chance he misses (~11%). He got absolutely splattered this week by the hard-charging WHERESTUA. Even still, our reports out of Bloomfield suggest he's calm, cool and collected. Best news for him is that Patrick MaFaggot is finally playing better.

Tier Three: Bubble Watch

8. WHERESTUA- Matt (LW rank: 9)

Is he kidding? Tua has slowly been rising up these rankings as he gets his scoring machine operational. He has now won 3 of 4 and scored 134+ in 3 of 4 weeks. This team is getting dangerous and somebody Derrick does not want to see in the first round. Team went from dogwater to studs everywhere in just a couple months. Truly elite coaching held them together where others might have faltered. He's even got a talent like Bryce Young on the bench. Of the true bubble teams, Tua is in the lead for the last playoff spot. Algorithm gives him a 45% chance of securing a playoff berth and the Willow Street Gaming Commission is giving him out at +110.

9. Sansa Ludacris- Chris (LW rank: 8)

Sansa had some tough bye weeks, and his team vanished on him when he needed them the most. He put up 77 points in a loss to previously last place Work Ass. Rumors were that Work Ass celebrated with an all you could eat buffet of Cluck-U and McDonalds. Heading into last week, Sansa had a 53% chance to reach the playoffs. That's down to 16%. Given his points for, he'll have a solid chance to win some tiebreakers, but he needs some of the 6-6 teams to lose.

10. Sweeney.- Connor (LW rank: 10)

Sweeney. Nico C is back and tearing it up which gives this team hope. Especially when you pair him with Trey “The Thundering Rhino” McBride. Sweeney remains in contention for the final playoff spot as well, but the trouble is he has the least points for of any of the contenders. He’ll need to take down Pigs on the 7th and Al Coke to feel good about his playoff chances. The algorithm gives him just a 16% chance to do so, but Willow Street Gaming Commission disagrees. They’re giving out Sweeney. +350 to make playoffs.

11. Ger- Ger (LW rank: 11)

While people battle it out up north, Ger has been stealthily pigging around Austin accumulating wins in recent weeks. He won his 3rd straight this week to catapult him into the thick of the playoff race. It wasn’t pretty but Ger blew out Al Coke this week. With 1265 points for, he controls his own destiny for the 8th seed. Simply needs to win the last two and outscore both WHERESTUA and Sweeney. along the way. Algorithm likes him roughly the same as the bookmakers here. 35% to make playoffs per the algorithm and +165 from WSGC.

Tier Four: The Pig Farm

12. Senior Al Coke Twins- Mikey (LW rank: 12)

Coke Master had a bad week with only 75 points. He’s cooked without Brock, with all due respect. If Brock plays, he’s locked in for a victory in the first round of the pig-off. Rumors out of his camp are the twins will be lead cheerleaders for the remainder of the season and be gifting ketamine to some of the team’s more passionate fans. TBD on if the commissioner will be sanctioning him for it. Additionally, we’ve had boots on the ground at Jefferson and it looks primed for a housewarming party. Some have called it a “top three venue in Hoboken.” With a Ravi Bhalla dartboard.

13. Here Without You Tishman- Gallo (LW rank: 16)

Tishman moves up three spots after a big week. He still lost but 137 points got the committee’s attention. Bucky Irving put on a show the likes of which MetLife had never seen. It was the type of performance that would’ve made prime OJ Simpson jealous. He ran over, around, and through the hapless Giants defense and put back a full buffalo chicken pie after the game. When asked about his performance by beat reporter Dan Duggan, Bucky said “That’ll do pig, that’ll do.”

14. Gotham Rogues- Boyle (LW rank: 13)

Given this team is abysmal, we'd like to use this section to absolutely torch the C.J. Stroud hype this year. Per the scholars at FantasyPros, Stroud was ranked as the 5th best quarterback coming into this season. Gotham paid $57 for him. The retarded pussy is currently 15th in total quarterback points. On a points per game basis, he is 26th. He is worse than Caleb "Homo" Williams and Aaron "Conspiracy Theorist" Rodgers. Him and Micah Parson should both be harpooned through the neck for parading around on their liberal podcast interviewing the hawk tuah girl about her favorite recipes.

15. Work Ass- Sweeney (LW rank: 15)

Credit to him. Work ass played spoiler this week to drop Sansa Ludacris to 5-7. He seems resigned to his fate as a likely pig-off winner. Cameron Dicker going for 16 was such a read. To be honest, not much else there is to say here. We'll see where he's at in a month. 27% chance of last place per the algorithm.

16. Marvin's Receiver Room- Paul (LW rank: 14)

Remains insane that a team with Lamar Jackson could be this bad. The committee even looked at his lineup this week and was like damn that's not bad. And yet, Cap Stoppers torched him. At minimum, Marvin needs to fire his defensive coordinator before next year. Maybe even before the pig-off. Look at the points against.

Odds (per WSGC):

Player	Championship Odds	Playoff Odds	Last Place Odds
Justin	+475	Off the board	Off the board
Joey	+550	Off the board	Off the board
Mitch	+600	-3000	+7500
TJ	+625	Off the board	Off the board
Papi	+750	Off the board	Off the board
Deez	+1050	Off the board	Off the board
TK	+1200	-1000	+2400
Matt	+1500	+110	+1150
Ger	+1800	+165	+1000
Connor	+1800	+350	+750
Chris	+1950	+500	+725
Mikey	Off the board	Off the board	+400
Boyle	Off the board	Off the board	+350
Gallo	Off the board	Off the board	+325
Sweeney	Off the board	Off the board	+275
Paul	Off the board	Off the board	+275